

Invest Beyond The Ordinary

When you think about the typical Investment Advisor and their strategy, what comes to mind?

These are all financial concepts that an advisor must be familiar with in order to provide basic investment advice. However, knowledge of simple concepts are no longer enough. In today's rapidly changing environment, passive investing or an advisor's use of a standardized portfolio, can result in larger and more frequent occurrences of volatility. Additionally, financial planning and estate planning services, which were once viewed as value added experiences, should now become part of a clients expectation and not an exception.

The foundation of our core values is to Invest Beyond The Ordinary. This means providing clients with customized high-level strategic advice that accomplishes more than just talking points like "planning."

Investing Beyond The Ordinary also include strategies that are innovative, new and appropriate for client portfolios where the goal is to accumulate wealth while protecting your capital during volatile markets.

This involves a great deal of due diligence, time, planning and hard work. With thousands of investments available, advisors should construct the "right" portfolio - not the easiest.

Investors deserve the opportunity to work with an advisory team such as ours that implement similar strategies to those utilized by successful institutional and multi billion dollar pension funds.

Invest Beyond the Ordinary

Working with an advisor that limits your investment options in order to streamline their practice is in conflict with what is best for you. The Donath & DiSabatino Wealth Management Group takes pride in receiving regular feedback such as:

I have never heard of these investment strategies before!

-Or-

Why hasn't my current advisor told me about this?

If you invest on your own and feel that you may be limiting yourself from being able to access the best possible investment strategies.

-Or-

If you are currently working with an advisor and are feeling as if your portfolio and planning strategies seem "ordinary."

Take control of your financial destiny.
