Time Spent in Favored Zone: ~18 months (541 Days)

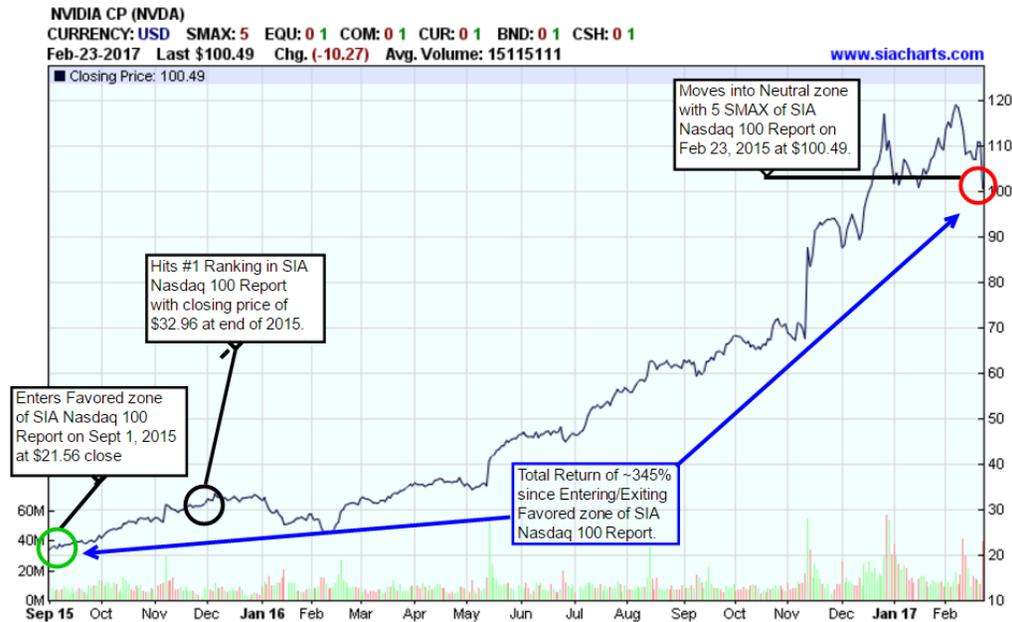

Hypothetical Trade Analysis: NVIDIA Corporation (NVDA) entered the Favored zone of the SIA Nasdaq 100 Report on September 1, 2015 closing at $21.56. It then moved up into the top 5% of Relative Strength ranking on November 6, 2015 closing at $31.55, eventually hitting the overall #1 ranking in the report at the end of 2015 closing at $32.96. Staying in the Favored zone (mostly in the #1 ranking) for over the next year, NVDA did not fall out of the Favored zone into the Neutral zone with a red SMAX score until February 23, 2016 closing at $100.49. After entering the Favored zone, NVDA had a total return performance upon exiting this zone of approximately 345% or 325% outperformance over the Nasdaq Composite Index over the same period!

So even if you didn't buy NVDA as it entered the Favored zone, there were still plenty of opportunities along the way to enter in at a favorable price over the approximately 18 months it resided in the Favored zone of the SIA Nasdaq 100 report. One of the benefits of using SIA Relative Strength analysis is that it keeps you in winning positions like NVDA for long periods of time to capture a strong performance run while also giving an unbiased viewpoint when an investment is no longer Favorable and other opportunities are now exhibiting more strength.
