

Chris Alward

Senior Private Banker at BMO Private Banking

“We challenge successful Canadian families to take action on what’s important to drive exceptional outcomes today and through times of transition.”

About Chris

Chris and his team provide highly personal service and customized banking, borrowing, and cash flow management solutions for business owners, professionals, and executives, as well as their families, holding companies, professional corporations, family trusts, and estates with needs in Canada and the USA.

With extensive managerial and operations experience outside the banking sector, Chris views clients’ needs from unique perspective, having often been “in their shoes” when acquiring real estate, negotiating agreements, managing cash flow and when building and running businesses.

Experience & background

Chris joined BMO in 2012, and since 2014 has been helping high net worth clients and their families work towards their goals by understanding their unique needs and providing the personalized services and support to help them achieve what they desire.

Chris volunteers as a soccer coach and business mentor to young people, is an avid home-cook, and enjoys the occasional golf game.

What sets us apart

Using a holistic approach, Chris collaborates with his colleagues in BMO Private Banking to design integrated solutions to enable clients to help achieve their personal wealth goals.

Chris’s goal is to empower clients with comprehensive and customized solutions for complex situations through coordinated and proactive wealth plans. Chris knows how to navigate the nuances and complexities of wealth management so that clients can have the confidence that their goals are within reach.
